SUNDAY SECOND

ONE-SHEET
DECEMBER 2026

New Orleans brass, festival drops.

ABOUT

Sunday Second is a stage name. Behind it is one maker, not the man in the pictures, who has spent his working life in rooms full of people who came to dance. Each record starts with a night he was in and a feeling he could not shake. The band and the voice are generated with AI. Everything that decides the song is his: the story, the words that stay, the take, the edit, every yes and no. The sound is the New Orleans brass band and the second line, pushed through a festival drop. He makes it in debt to that tradition, not in its name. The man in the pictures is a character: a photoreal image generated with AI, not a photograph of anyone living. The first two singles are Lose My Number, out 4 December, and Sexy Girl, out 5 December 2026.
